Imprisoned

(By International News Service)

China and Japan made disguised preparations to mass their resources of men and supplies for war today as two nations were reported driving head-on toward renewed hostilities between Tientsin and Ssangshou. Developments:

1. Chinese Nationalist troops were reported massing at Tsangchow for a counter offensive against Tientsin, with Japanese forces on the way south to combat them.
2. Soviet Russia was drawn into the crisis when Czarist "White Russians" in the hire of the Japanese spy service raided the Soviet Consulate at Tientsin.
3. Generalissimo Chiang Cheh-Shek flew to Kwangsi Province to enlist the aid of South China in a unified drive against Japan. The Governor of Shantung Province's troops are strongly implicated north of the Yellow River.
4. Wholesale changes were made in the Japanese army, where 25,000 young officers moved up in rank. Major Japanese policies called for a "sound fundamental solution" of the Japanese problem and plans to issue $30,000 in flat currency to finance the Chinese campaign was announced.

WOLFBORO, N. H., Aug. 2—(INS)—Lieutenant Bonney Powell, U. S. N. R., his wife Elizabeth Gould Powell, former Winchester, Mass., girl, and their two children, have been arrested and imprisoned by the Japanese at Peiping, according to word received today by Mrs. Charles Williamson Gould, mother of Mrs. Powell. She immediately dispatched a request to the State Department at Washington requesting the United States Consulate at Peiping to investigate. Mrs. Gould said she was informed Lieutenant Powell was arrested while making news reel pictures of the occupation of Peiping by the Japanese. His wife and two children were arrested later.

Film Showing Facts of Life Is to Be at Grand

Bearing the recommendations and praises of social, moral and health societies throughout the nation "Damaged Lives" comes to the Grand Theatre screen for a limited engagement, starting Monday and Tuesday, with matinee both days, to an adult audience only, no one under 16 being admitted.

The picture derives its importance as a great social document from the fact that it presents the young man and womanhood of today with a forceful picture of what can happen through ignorance and laxity in social hygiene. Heretofore shrouded in mystery, secrecy and sham modesty the problem of social disease is here attacked with intelligence and honesty and with no other purpose than to drive home the necessity for enlightenment for the protection of future generations.

This ideal is the underlying theme of the splendid dramatic story that is told in screen terms. Handled with the utmost dignity and delicacy it presents, in a tense and thrilling manner, an absorbing story of a young husband and wife whose lives and hopes are ruined through the too-late discovery of the husband's plight. The working out of their salvation forms the basis of the picture, concluding with a dramatic climax and sweep that constitutes outstanding entertainment fare.

"Damaged Lives" has been highly recommended by the American Social Hygiene Association, a national organization of great scope, and sponsored by the Department of Public Health of this city.

Its cast of players is headed by Diane Sinclair, who appears in the role of the tragically stricken wife. Opposite her is Lyman William, as the husband.

3 OBSTACLES REMOVED

By William K. Hutchinson
U. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2—(INS)—Once more in control of a rather rebellious Senate, administration leaders today headed Congress toward an August 15th adjournment, with enactment of wage-hour, housing, sugar and minor court reform legislation as the immediate goal.

The administration faced a comparatively smooth path to adjournment after hurdling three major obstacles over the week-end. The path-clearing moves were Senate passage of the wage-hour bill, despite a violent revolt by southern Democrats, Senate refusal to consider anti-lynching legislation and an agreement by warring sugar factions to call up a sugar import quota bill and let the best man win.

While the wage-hour bill was sent to the House, the Senate began consideration of the Wagner housing act. This bill would create a Federal Board, armed with $700,000,000 to make loans to states and municipalities for low cost housing projects. It would set up a $20,000,000 fund annually for three years for rent subsidies to the poor who would live on the low cost projects. Its sponsors said the bill would repay the government every cent eventually.

Administration leaders planned to call up the Court reform bill Wednesday. This measure, a "peace treaty" which ended the five months Senate battle over the President's Supreme Court bill, carried proposed reforms for the minor Federal judiciary. It was really non-controversial although some of the President's supporters may try to revive the Supreme Court row by offering amendments to it.

Gray-Wilson Wedding Occurs In Croydon On Saturday

CROYDON, Aug. 2—A pretty wedding took place Saturday at 10 a. m. at the home of Justice of the Peace James Laughlin. The bride was Miss Mary Edna Wilson, daughter of Mervin Wilson, Sr., and the groom William Edward Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, Sr.

The attendants were: Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Wilson, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

The bride and Mrs. Wilson were attired in white linen coat suits, white kid slippers and gloves and hats of white lace. They wore corsages of pink rose-buds and baby breath.

Mr. and Mrs. Gray then left for Atlantic City, N. J., where they will remain for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Tryon, Mr. and Mrs. Gray, Sr., M. Wilson, Sr., and Joseph Smith, also motored to Atlantic City where they joined the bridal party at dinner.

DEATH TOLL FROM AUTOS NEAR COUNTY SEAT IS 11

With 153 Recorded As Injured
For First Six Months
Of the Year

WITHIN 25-MILE RADIUS

The death toll in automobile accidents on highways within a radius of 25 miles of Doylestown, the county seat, in the first six months of this year, was 11. The total number of those injured is given as 153. These figures are shown by the records of Pennsylvania Motor Police, Doylestown sub-station, of which District Lieutenant F. C. Miner is the commanding officer.

A majority of the 192 accidents on highways over which the Doylestown sub-station has jurisdiction, according to Sergeant William R. Engle, were caused by speeding and reckless driving.

Records show that most of the accidents took place on Route 611, between Doylestown and Horsham, and that the next highest number took place on the Bethlehem pike, between Montgomery Square and Quakertown. Many of the accidents occurring on Route 611, south of Doylestown, took place at the sharp curve at the Edison bridge.

Sergeant Engle made it very emphatic that speedsters and reckless drivers are a menace on the highway, but he pointed out just as clearly that the motorist who drives at a very slow rate, especially when traffic is very heavy, is just as much of a menace and even more.

These slow drivers, many of whom take jaunts for the purpose of seeing the country on Sundays and holidays, are frequently the cause of congested traffic, and motorists who wish to drive at a higher rate of speed often are unable to pass them because of the traffic coming in the opposite direction.

Commenting upon this, Sergeant Engle declared that he believes that these slow drivers can be arrested on charges of reckless driving, although to his knowledge this has never been done.

Continuing, Sergeant Engle said: "I consider the motorist who drives 15 or 20 miles an hour just as much of a menace as the speedster who drives 50 or 60 miles an hour. Motorists who are compelled to drive behind these slow drivers eventually become impatient and finally they will attempt to pass them."

TO START STORM SEWER PROJECT AT MORRISVILLE

Drain To Be Placed in West
Hendrickson Avenue at A
Cost of $3,000.00

SET UP AS WPA PROJECT

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 2—Work will begin shortly on the installation of a storm sewer on West Hendrickson avenue, from Stockham avenue to a point west of Harper avenue, to take care of the drainage from that section of the borough. This work is set up as a WPA project with the Federal Government paying for the labor.

The original set-up calls for 365 feet of 18-inch storm sewer on West Hendrickson avenue from Stockham to Harper avenues. This project already has been approved and calls for the employment of 13 laborers, a carpenter, a general foreman and timekeeper at a cost of $2,224 for labor. Material will cost $779.

The extension for this job calls for 362 feet of 15-inch storm sewer on the same street from Harper avenue westward. This will connect the existing or proposed storm sewers with the outlet of the drainage system of the new athletic field now under construction at Capital View School. There will be 12 laborers engaged on the extension with a cost of $1,587.78. Borough Engineer Harry H. Lee, Jr., has set up these projects at the request of Common Council.

Lee also has set up a WPA job to be started this week, which will include the laying of 350 feet of six-inch water main on West Hendrickson avenue in Highland Park, in order that water may be furnished to two new houses being erected there. The material cost for this job is estimated at $453.23, while the labor is estimated at $210. The latter will be paid from Federal funds.

HARRIMAN HOSPITAL AUXILIARY ANNOUNCES ANNUAL LAWN FETE, TO BE CONDUCTED HERE BEGINNING AUG. 9TH AND EXTENDING TO AUG. 14TH

The Auxiliary of the Harriman Hospital announces today that the annual lawn fete of the well-known institution will be held August 9th to 14th, inclusive. In an open letter the Auxiliary outlines its plans in the following letter:

To the Public:
This letter will announce the opening of the 13th annual lawn fete under the auspices of the Auxiliary of Harriman Hospital to be held on August 9th to 14th, inclusive.

We seriously considered the matter this year and were somewhat disheartened regarding the affair. We have earnestly endeavored to secure a satisfactory entertainment and have travelled from Philadelphia to New York in a persistent effort to obtain a proper display. One company expected a gross income of five to six thousand dollars per week and yet could guarantee us only $750 net profit. Two other companies were approached but the amusements were salacious in character and not appropriate for a hospital affair.

On these occasions among the most interesting features are the ferris wheel, the merry-go-round and the chair-plane ride, but it seems almost impossible to secure these unless we also accept the remainder of the outfit with which the machine rides are connected. However, we did obtain from Jersey City a smaller firm that recently operated in this vicinity.

Six Are Injured When Autos Collide On Highway

Five Bristol residents and one from Tullytown had narrow escapes from serious injury early today when their automobile and another machine collided at the intersection of Route 39 and Pemberton Road, outside of Burlington, N. J.

Those injured:
Armando Ciotti, 33, 918 Jefferson avenue.
Mrs. Armando Ciotti.
Ralph Ciotti, 7.
Albert Ciotti, 10.
Miss Viola Johnson, 20, Tullytown.
Samuel Rago, 24, 436 Jefferson avenue.

According to Mr. Ciotti the group was returning from Atlantic City at about 12:30 this morning when the accident occurred. Mr. Ciotti states that he was making a turn off Route 39 when another car collided with his machine.

Mrs. Ciotti was the most seriously injured and is in the Burlington County Hospital. An X-ray will be taken today to determine the extent of her injuries.

Mr. Ciotti suffered cuts about the face and body and a number of bruises and a dislocated toe.

The children were considerably shaken up and Miss Johnson sustained cuts on the limbs.

A physician was summoned this morning for Mr. Rago who complained of pains in his hip.

FIRE GUTS PORTION OF RIVERSIDE THEATRE AND ADJACENT BUILDINGS; FIREMEN PUT UP A STIFF BATTLE

Blaze Apparently Originates in Old Doron Buildings — Some Goods in Levinson Warehouse Removed to Point of Safety
— Streets Leading to Scene Are Choked With Traffic

Fire shortly before noon today gutted that portion of the Riverside Theatre paralling Water Street, the adjacent buildings formerly occupied as offices by the late William E. Doron, facing along Radcliffe street, and the adjoining building occupied as a warehouse by the United Cut Rate Drug Store.

The blaze apparently originated in the old Doron buildings, as those who were close to the scene at the time the fire was discovered, say they first saw smoke coming from this building, and then suddenly the entire structure was ablaze. The flames spread rapidly to the tinder-like buildings, which were unoccupied, and ate their way into that portion of the row which had recently been renovated and was occupied by United Cut Rate Drug as a warehouse. Firemen fought the flames from all angles, running lines of hose from the plugs along Radcliffe street, and using the pumping equipment to draw water from the river for streams which were directed from the Water street side.

Volunteers consisting of men and children carried great quantities of stock from the United Cut Rate warehouse into Ye Olde Delaware House, where it was stored. However all the stock was not removed, and it is believed that considerable was destroyed by fire and water.

Dense clouds of black smoke rolling high into the air, attracted hundreds of spectators from all sections of the town. Streets leading to the fire were choked with traffic, and motorists parked as far as five blocks from the scene. Police closed Radcliffe street to all traffic from Mulberry to Mill street, so that the firemen would not be hampered in their work.

According to well-founded reports an option was recently taken upon the site by an out-of-town concern, who it is said planned to build a theatre and apartments. This however, has not been authoritatively stated.

A member of the firm of United Cut Rate said the fire originated in the old Doron structure which at one time was occupied by Max Slatoff as an antique shop. He said the flames spread rapidly into the portion of the building his firm occupied.

The firemen fought the flames with great vigor and endangered their lives by crawling up upon the tin roofs of the crumbling structures, so as to direct the streams to better advantage.

The fire was still burning at 12:15, and no idea as to the loss would be approximated at that time.

PHILA. LAD DROWNS IN CREEK AT NEWPORTVILLE

Jos. Czarnecki, 13, Suddenly
Sinks; Father Recovers
Body

WITH PICNIC GROUP

NEWPORTVILLE, Aug. 2—A Philadelphia boy of 13 years drowned in the Neshaminy Creek yesterday afternoon.

The victim is Joseph Czarnecki, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Czarnecki, 2590 E. Auburn street, Philadelphia.

The lad, said to be a good swimmer, was playing with a ball with two other bathers. As Joseph swam to retrieve the ball he suddenly went down without a cry.

The lad's cousin, Charles Czarnecki, attempted to recover the boy, but was unable to do so. About five minutes later Joseph's father brought the body to the surface.

A member of the Philadelphia police force, picnicking with the group on the Patton farm, in Bensalem Township, by which strip of land the boys were swimming, used artificial respiration, but to no avail. Dr. Horace Fleckenstein was summoned, and pronounced the boy dead.

Deputy coroner, Dr. James Lawler, Bristol, issued a certificate stating death was due to accidental drowning, and the body was removed to Philadelphia.

The victim was a student at a Philadelphia parochial school. He had been in this country only three years, having come from Poland three years ago today. Joseph, together with his parents and others, had gone to the Patton farm for a day's outing, as had been their frequent habit.

The boy, in addition to his parents, leaves a baby brother.

AUGUST

For many the time has come to talk of many things—except work. By common consent in this latitude August is vacation time. There may be blessed social circles that are not restricted to the month in seeking recreation, but as a general rule August is letting-down time for most.

There is inspiration to be gained on a Friday afternoon or Saturday morning in contemplating the young people who are headed by railroad, motor car or bus for that land that can be summarized in The Great Outdoors. It is significant that one of the zodiacal signs of the season is the Lion, for lion-like indeed is the young man about to embark on his two weeks of marauding among the members of the fair sex, who, incidentally, are quite able to do a bit of marauding themselves. The lilies of the field have to look to their laurels in contemplating the Younger Generation when about to step forth on the annual begira. One has to do so much in such a limited time.

It is not the time to consider the "cottage people," a rarefied stratum of humanity beyond the hopes of the ordinary Young Persons. Rather may thought be bent toward the two-weekers of the land, to whom August may mean anything in the way of adventure, romance. Labor Day is, of course, in the drab future, but why think of that now? August is here; time enough to deal with the Autumn and return to the job in due course.

SOPWITH'S SECOND ATTEMPT

High costs and so-called society barriers have restricted participation in The America's Cup races to wealthy yachtsmen of the United States and Great Britain. These races form nevertheless the premier international test of skill in building and sailing racing sloops, a sports "classic."

It appeals to the American imagination that our original victor, The America, took the mug signifying the championship from British possession, in British waters, in 1851. That, and its having remained ever since against a series of challenges in American hands, has been a satisfaction in this country and a cause of chagrin in England.

Thus we indicate the background, the occasion for national interest, as T. O. M. Sopwith makes his second attempt to take The America's old mug back to England. He has a new boat, Endeavor II, Harold S. Vanderbilt, again the defending yachtsman, also has a new ship, Ranger. Though regarded as the slower yacht, Vanderbilt's kamikaze defeated Sopwith's Endeavour I in 1934. Skipper Vanderbilt indeed has first class claims as a judge of winds and a handler of sails, ropes and steering wheel.

Cheers for the American entry in other races rose throughout the United States, mostly from people who had never seen or expected to see such monster one masted craft as are built for this one supreme contest. We should cheer again! But, if after 86 years, Sopwith should take The America's Cup back to its original home, and succeed where Sir Thomas Lipton tried for a lifetime and failed, it would be a fair "break" at last. All Americans having a sense of sportsmanship would heartily greet a British victor with sincere congratulations.

Neutrality, what crimes are committed in this name!

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol, Jan. 20, 1876. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

Mademoiselle Rosa O'Erina, Erin's Prima Donna, will give one of her musical entertainments in St. Mark's Catholic Church, Bristol, on Wednesday evening next. She is gifted with a splendid soprano voice of great power and compass admirably suited for the interpretation of sacred, classic and operatic music, and receives unqualified commendation wherever she appears. The press of the different cities of the world unite in bestowing upon her the most flattering testimonials. . . .

Last night, the train from Trenton to Kensington, due here at 10:05 p. m., came in collision with the railroad standpipe at Walnut street. The standpipe was broken off, the headlight of the locomotive smashed, and the lights of two of the passenger cars extinguished. No one was injured. The accident was caused by the neglect of the person whose duty it was to fasten the projecting arm of the standpipe back in its position after the preceding train took water, and the high wind prevailing blew it over the track.

Isaac Osmond, of Mill street, was run over by the 5.11 train on Monday last, at Cold Spring. It is supposed that he was stepping from one track to the other, and not seeing this train, was run into and killed. It was very foggy and the engineer could not see any distance ahead. The coroner held an inquest on Tuesday, and the jury rendered a verdict of "accidental."

The Bristol Gas Light Company has reduced the price of gas as follows: from 500 to 1500 feet, $4 per 1000 feet, 1000 to 3000, $3.75 per 1000 feet, from 3000 to 6000, $3.50 per 1000 feet, 6000 to 12,000, $3.25 per 1000 feet, 12,000 feet and over, $3.00 per 1000 feet. . . .

Barney Waters, while skating on the canal basin on Saturday last, broke through the ice, and falling broke his leg. Dr. Pursell was summoned and rendered all necessary assistance.

Samuel Swain now has his rooms in the office recently occupied by Joshua Buckman, deceased.

James Bruden will commence the erection of a new dwelling on Pond street near Dorrance, in a few weeks.

HULMEVILLE—E. G. Harrison has sold the farm of the late Joseph Canby, which he recently purchased of the executors, to Charles Osmond, of Middletown, for $132.50 per acre.

We understand that a project is on foot to erect gas works at Langhorne, the station on the Delaware and Bound Brook R. R., situate between Attleboro' and Hulmeville, which is to supply the three places with gas. It is estimated that a hundred consumers would make the works pay, and if certain of that number, a company will doubtless be formed, and the project pushed forward. It is merely talked of as yet, but as the completion of the railroad will necessitate, or call for just such an improvement, we expect to hear of Hulmeville, Langhorne and Attleboro' being lighted with gas before the year is over.

On Monday night last, an attempt was made on the life of Richard Swain, of Penna Manor. The would-be assassin mistook him for Mr. Mershon, as he asked him if he was Joab Mershon. Mr. Swain, in reply, asked him what was it his business if he was, when the man seized him by the throat, and drawing a large knife, threw him to the ground and tried to stab him. His clothes were badly cut and his flesh somewhat scratched, but in the struggle Mr. S. succeeded in getting up, and taking advantage of the opportunity offered, jumped on his adversary, and stunning him, ran home. Who the villain was, and what became of him, is yet a mystery, but on that should be unravelled. It is supposed that it was an attempt to extort money, and that the man knew Mr. Mershon had money on his person, and expecting him to pass by that way, mistook Swain for him. The affair occurred on the meadow owned by Hector Robbins.

DOYLESTOWN—Hon. Joseph Morrison, one of the associate judges of our court, was unable to attend to his duties at the adjourned court, owing to a very severe attack of illness. . . .

The Cold Spring Hotel, kept by Jacob B. Reete, in the lower end of our borough, was entered and robbed of a revolver and some segars, and about $10 or $15 was taken from the money-drawer in the bar-room.

Behind the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD—Hard luck continues for Michael Whalen, who broke his nose when a clown pushed him off a springboard. Doctors decided his profile wasn't going to be right, so they've had to rebreak the nose and put on new splints. Seems as it is the third accident of the kind that has happened to the actor, and the first two were improperly cared for.

Result is Whalen loses his vacation and will have to report to Twentieth Century-Fox as soon as he is looking handsome again.

Sounds a little optimistic, but Robert Taylor hopes to take a two-week motor vacation and dodge recognition by fans. He sets out as soon as "Broadway Melody" is finished and his wardrobe will consist chiefly of two pairs of blue jeans, a sleeping bag and hiking boots. He even plans to leave his razor at home.

M. G. M.'s new operetta, "Firefly," should be the best of the series when tightened up after preview reaction. Jeanette MacDonald will amaze with a newly acquired warmth of personality. Does a fiery Spanish dance among other things. Studio shot this sequence six days after her marriage to Gene Raymond.

Five of the Friml favorites remain in the score, but the outstanding number is a novelty called "Donkey's Serenade." Music is an adaptation of the Friml song, "Chansonette," and rhythm is timed to the klop of a donkey's heels. Best thing of its kind since the Lubitsch train number in "The Love Parade."

Look out for a puckish youngster in this, Robert Spindola by name. He was in "Ramona" and several other pictures, but Director Bob Leonard gives him his big chance. Also, get ready to welcome Allan Jones in his proper spot as a romantic singing star. He is superb in "Firefly."

Remember Eddie Polo? He is back in Hollywood visiting his brother, Sam Polo, of the M. G. M. makeup department. Eddie also is having a reunion with Charles Grapewin, who used to be his partner years ago in an acrobatic act.

Answering Your Questions: Wanda Hinds, South Pasadena: The rumors about Corinne Griffith and her husband, George Marshall, were untrue. Fay Wray saw them at the Dallas exposition only recently.

Hollywood nearly broke up another marriage—that of Joan Davis and Si Wills. They were a team in vaudeville, but a movie scout saw her and, since then, she has had most of the success. Is playing the lead with the Ritz Brothers now in "Life Begins at College."

The other day, Wills decided he could take it no longer and moved out. After a day's separation, however, they decided they couldn't get on without each other. Hope the happy ending sticks.

Jane Withers is back from San Francisco with a cat, a box of lizards, six turtles and two Chinese chickens. Which makes 64 pets for her in all.

A not-so-appreciative neighbor recently filed a complaint about the menagerie, so the Withers family bought a corner lot next to their property and the Twentieth Century-Fox starlet is keeping her pets there.

Chatter. . . Virginia Pine's daughter, Jean, buys things at the 5 and 10 cent stores and tells the clerks to charge them to George Raft. A chauffeur always gives the clerk the wink and pays for the articles.

Cecilia Parker was well enough from her operation to step out with Henry Willson at the Biltmore Bowl movie night. . . . Phyllis Fraser was there with Johnny Downs. Or maybe Johnny was with Cecilia. It's hard to tell when Hollywood's younger set gets together. . . . Swiftest ribbing act we've seen is put on by Sid Albrook. He had Nelson Eddy burnt to a crisp. . . . Binnie Barnes and Jean Negulesco were twining it again at the Trocadero. . . . Ditto, Isabel Jewell and Owen Crump at Sardi's. . . . And our Catalina scouts report that Jan Garber has a lump that big on his head. Got it on a surf board.

Mr. Wessel's daughter had come and taken her away for an afternoon, returning her simply but beautifully clad, her eyes agleam.

the two girls in the Florence Crittenden Home to check their waywardness.

The late Spring was made more beautiful for Minnie than any of her happiest dreams woven on the loom of her imagination at the deep window overlooking the river. There were special matinees at the opera—"Hansel and Gretel," "Le Coq d'Or," "Romeo and Juliet" and young people's symphonies at Carnegie Hall; riding lessons and parties, parties, parties.

With the coming of Summer, the Wessels took Minnie to their big Long Island place for golf and polo and yachting; garden parties, etc.

In the Gas House district, Danny—rejoined by his bride from old Blackwell's Island—laughed uproariously in their hall bedroom. "We're going to wear diamonds, Lizzie," he confided. "I was following Dolan and trying to make up my mind how to begin bleeding him on that still layout in the old brew."

Your son might fall in love with her," said Pop frankly.

"And that might be a blessing I did not look for, Mr. Dolan."

"A tenement house girl for a daughter-in-law?"

"Well, my mother was born among the hard-working Germans who settled in the Yorkville section. With a little ill luck in her family she might have had to make her living as a servant girl."

So "Her Highness" would be made ready to take her place in the world as—possibly, the wife of the chief heir of the Wessel millions. That was it. And there was sense to it, Pop had to admit. Had he been given the job of the good Lord himself for a day, parceling out the destinies of people, Pop could not have arranged matters better for the child he loved: He and Terry would have to stand aside. They would have glimpses of her, of course. If the rheumatism should hit him again badly she might even come and nurse him through it. At any rate he could buy some real good clothes and every afternoon walk with Terry and Minnie the short distance from Miss Blandings' School for Young Ladies to the splendid entrance of the big apartment house on Sutton Place. She would not be without her old guards.

"And you'll always be welcome—you and Terry—in my home," added Mr. Wessel. "We do not belong to what is called high society. The Social Register wouldn't have us because our money was made out of beer."

About a month later, Pop and Terry were at their afternoon climb these rich people think that they can just reach out into the crowds of happy little children playing on the sidewalks of our great city and pluck the fairest flower for their own amusement. They will be disappointed. In my time I seen many strange things happen in this town but nothing like this. It's insulting to the intelligent, cruel, er—what's that word Councillor O'Reilly used to use so much? Er, yes—wanton. It's wanton!"

"Wanton? What's it mean?" asked Lizzie, apparently dazzled by the learning of their legal adviser, but the query was ignored.

"To avoid having this innocent little one taken into the sheltering arms of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children," continued Greenblum, "Mr. Wessel will have to make definite arrangements with me as your representative. He will have to provide for the support of the other innocent, poverty-stricken Fogarty children."

"But the girls have been sent away," suggested Danny.

"Leave that to me," mused the mouthpiece.

"Danny says this millionaire is a—jeanin' Min for his son," added Lizzie, jittering in her chair.

"Is that so?" Councillor Maxie's black eyes popped with delight. "And there's Dolan," reminded Lizzie. "Him and his still. What chance has he got if he claims the right to protect Min? If I give the tip-off on his still. . . . A kick on the shin from his bride made Danny check his speech. Maxie would, of course, declare himself in for at least thirty per cent of any blackmail there."

"In directing this matter," Maxie reminded Danny sharply. "But there ain't a Canadian dime between the two of us," whined Lizzie, "and we ain't eaten yet today."

"Or yesterday either," added Danny. "Just think of the breaks we get. Minnie riding around in a fancy car and her own brother without the price of a ham sandwich for his wife."

Lizzie burst into loud sobs. The injustice and the ingratitude loose in the world was too much for her.

WHY

IT PAYS TO READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS IN THE BRISTOL COURIER

First, because it's lower Bucks County's only daily newspaper.

Second, because Bristol is Bucks County's biggest market.

Third, because the makers and merchants who advertise in the Courier stake their reputations, in cold black type, that what you read is true. That is why each article they sell you must be so thoroughly satisfactory that you would later answer "yes" to this, the most important question a merchant can ask a customer: "Would you buy it again?"

Fourth, because the Courier daily goes into 3500 homes in this section, where it is read and re-read for its advertisements and news.

to pass and with this they take chances of figuring in accidents.

One section of the Pennsylvania Motor Vehicle Code says: "Any person driving a vehicle over the highway shall drive the same at a careful and prudent speed, not greater nor less than is reasonable and proper, having due regard to the traffic."

Motorists, continued Sergeant Engle, should never leave home, especially on Sundays and on holidays, with the feeling that their cars will be the only ones on the highways. There are bound to be hundreds of others and they must realize that when the traffic is heavy they cannot make time.

Commenting on the motorists who drive slowly for the purpose of seeing the countryside, Sergeant Engle said he would recommend that they pull to the side of the highways until they have seen it and then continue. This business of driving too slowly over the highways, he said, is very dangerous.

Records compiled at the sub-station during the past six months show that a majority of the accidents took place between the hours of 4.30 and 5.30 o'clock in the afternoon, and this is contrary to the statistics compiled from points all over the United States. Sergeant Engle was unable to state why most accidents in this part of the country took place between the hours of 4.30 and 5.30 o'clock in the afternoon. Statistics gathered from all parts of the country show most of the accidents take place between six and eight o'clock in the evening. It was found at Doylestown sub-station, however, that many of the accidents in the area covered by the Doylestown sub-station happened between the hours of six and eight.

Declaring that reckless driving and speeding are the cause of a majority of the accidents, Sergeant Engle pointed out that there are several other causes.

These causes and the number of accidents taking place during the first six months of the year were listed as follows: Blinding headlights, 3; defective equipment, 4; improper passing, 4; failing to signal, 10; intoxication, 5; losing control, 10; skidding, 12; forced off highway, 3; careless pedestrians, 11, and falling to stop at through traffic signs, 6.

Highways and the number of accidents taking place on them during the first six months of the year are as follows: Bethlehem pike, 33; Lackawanna Trail, between Doylestown and Horsham, 24; Lackawanna Trail, between Doylestown and Riegelsville, 19; Doylestown-Montgomeryville highway, 12; Route 202, between Doylestown and New Hope, 13; Doylestown-Quakertown road, 10; Durham road, 6; River road, between New Hope and Kintnersville, 2; Elmkill pike, between Chalfont and Welsh road, 1; Welsh road, between Willow Grove and Lansdale, 2; York road, between Hatboro and Buckingham, 21; and all other roads, 24.

The personnel of the Doylestown sub-station includes Lieutenant F. C. Winer, Sergeant William R. Engle, Corporal Chester W. Reitz, and Privates J. F. Jacobs, George H. Rentz, Fred Arcamone, Fred Gallagher and J. P. Shovelin.

LANDRETH SEEDS POUND TWO VISITING MOUNDSMEN

Pounding two visiting moundsmen for eighteen hits, eight being for extra bases, the Landreth Seeds yesterday defeated Crescentville of Philadelphia, a team that has been giving city league teams plenty of trouble lately, 10-2 was the score.

George Dougherty led the attack, making four hits out of five trips to the plate, one for a triple. Claude Lodge had three, including a triple and drove in three runners. Barcalow, a Trenton boy recently acquired to play center field, three—two for extra bases.

Landreth's started by scoring three times in the initial inning on Dougherty's single. Liberatore's sacrifice, Harwi's two-base hit and singles by Griggs and Barcalow. Another was scored in the second on Dougherty's hit, an infield out and a single by Plier muffed Dougherty's fly in the fourth with two out. Liberatore singled, Lodge tripled and Harwi doubled for his second hit of the game to register three more.

Sherman who had relieved Zimmer, the visitors' starting hurler, in the fifth, yielded the Farmers three tallies in the last inning, when Dougherty and Liberatore hit for three bases and Lodge and Griggs whiffed.

Manager Landreth used the old reliable Howard Black on the mound for the home team and he let the visitors down with eight hits well scattered and two runs and fanned eight.

Gourley's two base hit—opening the fourth—was turned into a run for the visitors when Achilles grounded out and Myers flied out to left field. Plier started the fifth inning with a triple and after next two batters went out scored on a single by Zimmer.

Harwi with two running catches and Dougherty's stop and throw on Achilles in the first-inning were the fielding features.

Landreth's play at Coatesville Wednesday night.

THIRD WARD NINE WINS OVER BURLINGTON TEAM

Saturday the fast Third Ward aggregation of Bristol traveled to Burlington where they overwhelmed the home team to the tune of 6-4.

The Bristol boys' bunting attack completely routed the home team who had a previous victory over Rohm & Haas and Grundy's of the Bristol Twilight League.

Ed Jeffries' slants were working in fine order as he completely baffled the opposing sluggers.

On Wednesday night on Landreth's field the Third Warders will cross bats with the fast R. D. Wood nine of Florence.

Boisterous Buck of Boston

By BURNLEY

When the Boston Red Sox acquired "Bigmouth Buck" Newsom and Bad Boy Ben Chapman from Washington in exchange for Wailing Wes Ferrell and his brother, Rick, it seemed as if both clubs got the worst of the deal.

Wild Wesley Ferrell had surely been a detriment to the Red Sox, yet the noisy Newsom was hardly an asset to the Senators.
Still Boston's Joe Cronin thought he had engineered a shrewd trade when he acquired Buck and Ben, and perhaps future events will prove him right.
At any rate, Newsom has pitched much better ball since being traded to Boston. In his own modest estimation Broadcasting Buck is the best boxman in baseball. This may be a slight exaggeration, but when properly handled, the American League's Dizzy Dean can be a top-notch twirler. Newsom seems to be happy with the Sox, and may really be headed for a big season.

Congregations Hear Of Missionary Work

gaged in missionary work for the past 20 years depends somewhat upon the unsettled conditions which now exist in China.

"Christian Living in China" was the subject of the sermon delivered by the speaker to members of the congregation at the Eddington Presbyterian Church yesterday morning.

Dr. Illick, who is a missionary under the M. E. Church, has been laboring in China for 21 years. He is connected with the faculty of the University of Nanking.

"Better living, through Christ, for better human relationships, is what the missionaries in China are trying to make possible," Dr. Illick said.

"The right to give to others something that is too good to keep to ourselves—that is our missionaries' right to go to China and other countries and tell the story of Christ."

The speaker also briefly outlined the ideal, rather than emphasis of creed or denomination that is being emphasized in our work in China," Dr. Illick said.

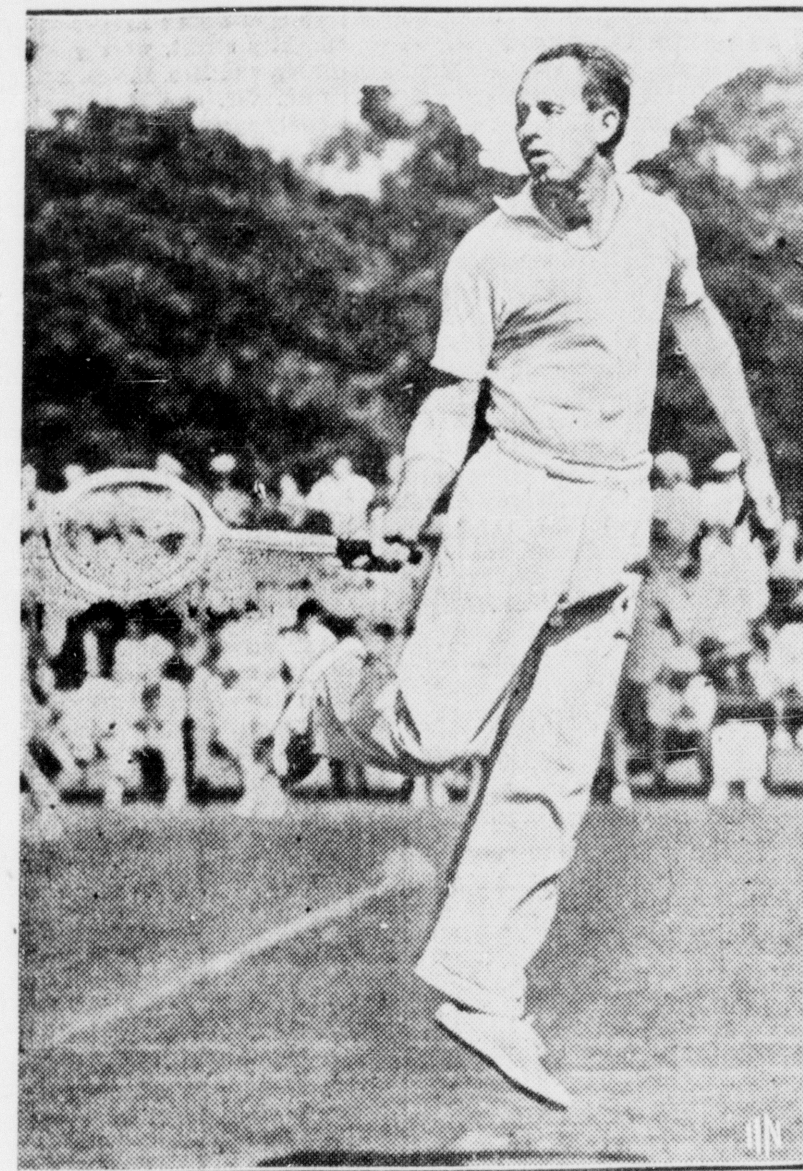

Illustrating this method of union work among the different churches the speaker told of the Nanking Church Council, composed of members of many denominations, that meets each Monday night to map out plans for the city of Nanking. He also said that names of denominations are not used in naming churches. Instead, you will find such names as "The Jesus Place" and "The Good News Place" above the churches.

Dr. Illick, who plans to return to China this week, also told of one of the few strictly religious broadcasting stations in the world, one of which is found in Nanking.

"There are lots of radios in this city," Dr. Illick said, "and this method of teaching has become very important."

Dr. Illick was also the speaker in

Allison Back in Form

A fancy bit of spectacular play as Wilmer Allison, former United States mainstay in Davis Cup competition and international tennis matches, competed in the Sea Bright, N. J., invitation tournament.

Neshaminy M. E. Church, Hulmeville, last evening, telling of the work of the missionary group at the University of Nanking, as motion pictures were shown.

Four reels were presented, depicting well the work which is "largely educational, but much more than that," as Dr. Illick described it. He mentioned that the population of Nanking is over 1,000,000 having grown by leaps and bounds within the past few years. Nanking, an educational center for years, was shown in many views, the city wall, the business centers, the university buildings, gardens, and some of the public buildings, and famed tombs.

Dr. Illick, who teaches the zoological, pre-medical sciences, mentioned that many of the students in the University of Nanking elect to take some religious work in their courses of studies.

The films also showed much of the work in Ginling College, the college for women in Nanking, work of which is closely correlated with that of the University of Nanking. The faculty of which Dr. Illick is a member totals nearly 90.
